Additional events include Trick or Vote and family film night. She also reported on the leadership conference in Los Angeles that 13 SAC students attended.

III. Planning Session

Dr. Lamb noted the work accomplished at the September 26 College Council/Planning Workgroup meeting and distributed a copy of the summary of the groups' discussion. Community colleges are asked by the CCCCCO to link goals with the Chancellor's vision statement.

Participants divided into groups again to continue the discussion for working toward values and vision statement. The groups reviewed, reflected and revised, brainstormed and drafted before sharing out.

Dr. Lamb reminded the groups of programs at SAC:

- Guided Pathways
- Strong Workforce
- Bachelor's Degree Program
- Dual Enrollment
- Foundation/Partnerships

Who are we at SAC? What do we value? Where are we going? The statement should be aspirational.

The following is a summary of the two draft statements:

Santa Ana College is the college of choice that empowers each individual student through a campus community that is student centered, diverse, and inclusive. We meet the community needs by offering innovative academic pathways and support services that cultivate excellence and activate educational and economic advancement.
