Centennial Education Center is located at the corner of Edinger and Fairview, in the city of Santa Ana. The Center is open Monday through Thursday from 8 am to 9 pm and Friday and Saturday from 8 am to 12 noon.

High School Subjects classes are designed to accommodate adults with varied responsibilities, backgrounds and needs who desire to earn a high school diploma. Individualized instruction is provided so that students may take classes that fit their personal schedules, thus enabling them to work and complete credits at their own pace. Courses offered include: English fundamentals, reading and vocabulary skills, fine arts, mathematics, science, health, United States history, and American government.

The Center also offers English (ESL), Adult Basic Education (ABE) for students to prepare for high school course work, citizenship classes, and career technical education classes.

Educational, vocational, and personal counseling and guidance are provided to students in individual and group settings. Available on a walk-in basis, counselors encourage students to seek assistance at any time during school hours. The Student Transition Program (STP) offers enrollment in college courses concurrently while finishing their high school diploma credits.

High School Diploma

High School Subjects classes are offered for adults who desire to earn a High School Diploma. Open entry/open exit individualized instruction allows students to complete High School credits at their own pace. Classes are free. Students can enroll at anytime.

With the busy adult in mind, the high school diploma program is designed to be flexible enough to fit the schedule of each individual. The College offers a comprehensive high school diploma program for adults who wish to continue their formal education.

Under an agreement with the State of California, diplomas are issued by the Rancho Santiago Community College District to students who complete the required course of study and demonstrate proficiency in basic skills. Graduation ceremonies are traditionally held each June on the Santa Ana College campus.

Students may complete the diploma program at any time during the year and receive verification of completion of requirements at that time. Courses designed to meet high school graduation requirements are offered in both the traditional classroom setting or in open entry/open exit individualized learning programs. Elective credits can be earned in a wide variety of locations throughout the community as listed in the schedule of classes published each semester.
